The 25-year-old brunette from Milledgville, Ga., who was "all cried out" after the strain and tension of the three-day trial of her husband, Francis Gary Powers, told newsmen in a trembling voice that she never would give up trying to win leniency for him.

SPACE DOGS RETURN; U.S. CATCHES CAPSULE

The world's two space-age rivals, the U.S. and Russia, each have made dramatic progress in their race to get a man into orbit.

In Moscow, Soviet scientists reported that two dogs and other animals were brought down safely to earth after a trip in the cabin of a five-ton space-ship launched into orbit Friday.

Over the Pacific Ocean near Hawaii, a C-119 Flying Boxcar plucked a space capsule in mid-air that had been ejected from an orbiting satellite over Alaska. It was the first ever such recovery.

Premier Fit for the Fray full slate of speaking engagements for at least two of those weeks, and he promised Friday he had something up his sleeve for a thumping windup to the campaign.

So far he's planned only two public appearances on Vancouver Island—at the Royal Theatre Aug. 29, and at Nanaimo Sept. 2.

He opens up his campaign officially Monday in Fort St. John, the start of a three-day Peace River tour.

He has indicated that he regards that country as one of the major battlefields of the election, as has his major adversary, CCF Leader Robert Strachan. It is "significant that he is starting his campaign there," said Mr. Bennett.

He also promised "I'll have something to say there" but "I don't know whether you'll consider it an important announcement."

Out of a total of nine upcoming engagements, Mr. Bennett has four dates in the Greater Vancouver area—next Thursday's opening of the Second Narrows Bridge, meetings at West Van-couver, New Westminster and Vancouver.

It's expected he'll swing up into the interior for the closing of the campaign, and stay at his Kelowna home on election night.

Red Herring in Oak Bay

REEVE MURDOCH, THE the cost of schools. No red herring Social Credit Party's candidate in Oak Bay, used to attack the provincial Government's treat-ment of municipalities, including his own. He insisted that the $50 home owner's grant should go to the municipal treasuries, not directly to the home-owner. He felt that the Government should give the municipalities a broad measure of relief from the crushing burden of school taxes.

But this week Mr. Murdoch announced that he had changed his mind. He is fully reconciled to the Government and asks the homeowners of Oak Bay to vote for its tax policies and him.

He can hardly do anything else when he runs as the Government's candidate and makes himself responsible for all its major policies, including its treatment of municipalities. It will be difficult for the home-owners of Oak Bay, however, to understand how the Government could mistreat the municipalities and the home-owners a few months ago and treat them handsomely today without any change in policy. Mr. Murdoch, not the Government, has changed.

A clear issue has been posed for the Oak Bay home-owner by Mr. Macfarlane, the Liberal candi-date. The Liberal Party's policy is to remove school taxes entirely from the home-owner and thus to reduce his present municipal taxes by about fifty per cent, which is well within the provincial Govern-ment's financial resources if they are better managed.

Facing this issue, Mr. Murdoch proposes a remarkable alternative the Liberal policy advocated by Mr. Macfarlane.

As reeve of Oak Bay, Mr. Murdoch undoubtedly would be the first to agree that the Government should relieve the home-owners, but as the Social Credit candidate he must reject this policy because the Government will not accept it. His obligation as reeve, has been superseded by his new loyalty to the Government. In this contradictory position Mr. Murdoch seeks the refuge of a proposition which he must know to be impossible. He says that income taxes should be used to pay

The position adopted by the federation makes sense. Too frefrom one part of the nation to another find their progress retarded by differences in the treatment of subjects and varying emphasis on particular courses. The child com-could be more obvious.

Incomes taxes are collected by the federal Government and part of them handed over to the provincial treasury. The municipalities are the creatures of the provincial, not of the federal Government and it is only to the provincial Government that the home-owner can turn for relief. As reeve of Oak Bay Mr. Murdoch can have no influence whatever on the federal Government, and on hope of securing a single dollar of income

When he speaks of relief from that source he speaks of something over which he and the municipalities have no control. He tries to hopes which raise possibly deliver. To the positive, practical Liberal policy of transferring the home-owner's school taxes to the provincial treasury Mr. Murdoch offers an alternative without the slighfest meaning or hope. In fact, he offers nothing

The election of Mr. Murdoch in Oak Bay would have no effect on the income tax policies of the federal Government. It would have no effect either on the policies of the provincial Government. policies are set and Mr. Murdoch has accepted them by accepting the Social Credit nomination.

If he now argues that somehow, sometime, the provincial Govern-ment may do better by the municipalities, that eventually it will get more income tax money from Ot-tawa and hand some of it over to municipalities then he is askthe home-owner to wait indefinitely for an improbable chance of relief pathetically interested in politics. When porter, travelled mostly on day coaches I first toured British Columbia with Premier John Oliver (the ablest provincial politician in my experience) he was greeted everywhere by large crowds, though he made the same speech, word for word, every night and at several stops during the day.

After hearing it a dozen times I knew it by heart and therefore found it unnecessary to attend the meetings. It unnecessary to attend the meetings. Instead, I took a paragraph or two from the one and only speech, built it up into a hot news story, put it on the wire to Victoria and explored the local town. Thus I learned a good deal about British Columbia but not much about

YET Oliver, hopelessly beaten, as it appeared in advance, by the newlyformed Provincial Party, destroyed his enemy with his one reliable speech. Evidently that strange old man with his grating voice, his patriarchal white beard and twinkling eye knew someard and twinkling eye knew something about politics after all.

But it was centainly a rough life. The premier of British Columbia, accom-

Instead, the people in every little town expected the Premier to tell them about their business and they would listen eagerly all evening, since there was no television to keep them at home, no cultural pur-suits to distract them from the business of the country. And after delivering the two-hour speech the Premier would answer questions and argue with his audience until midnight.

As one looks back on them now, the lives of British Columbians must have been appallingly dull when they would willingly sit for some four hours on a hard bench just to hear what their government was doing, to insist on answers to their questions.

They lacked all our advantages, they hadn't begun to glimpse the higher arts of politics, they worried about the exnditure of a mere million dollars but, since they knew no better, they seemed to enjoy their elections when, in reverse of our modern system, they had politics, not progress.

mostly liking Nixon. Rain, light. Ordered mainbrace spliced, while AB and cabin boy put to bed. Spliced. Rain still falling, catching most of it in dog's bowl. Ordered boatswain to row dog ashore. Dog really much too big for dinghy. Spliced again. Cold ham and potatoes, admirably cooked by first officer (doubling as cook), and so to bed. Nervous anchor watch most of night. Tides do not appear to con-form to table. Who is wrong, Neptune or the D.O.T.? Reminder to check with gods on return.

Wakened early by AB and cabin boy roughing it up in fo'csle. Closed hatch and made tea. Breakfast. Rain still falling, but inside all is warm and dry, and so two hours pass swiftly by. Up anchor, By golly, the book was right! Mud bottom, Bo'sun cleaned up without a murmur, under threat of keel hauling. Steamed slowly into Maple Bay for butter and milk.

Whole crew went ashore in gig. Dog whole crew went ashore in gig. Dog much, much, too big. Incipient mutiny, caused by wet pants, quelled sternly. Sailed at 0945 for Kuper Island. Su. came out; ordered mainbrace spliced and had lunch. Coming to grief on a reef narrowly averted by fine seamanship of first mate, who first noted anchor dragging. Steamed for Telegraph Harbor; tied up at dock. Orders obeyed implicitly (crew definitely improving), fine destroyer landing. Dog can go ashore on his own, will probably stay here.

A piece of pornography was brought to my attention last week by a lady of my acquaintance, whose complaint against it was that it held womanhood in low esteem. It was a magazine, containing several articles, lavishly illustrated with photographs of girls washing themselves, rolling on the floor, and climbing over furniture. It did not seem really pornographic to me, but it might have been so to some feaders.

The girls were revealing nothing which is not to be seen on any bathing beach, except for their bosoms; they were not accompanied by male models, and they seemed to be hygienically, rather than erotically occupied; as pornography goes, it was not high-powered

Gloomy Report on Africa

(Reviewed by J. C. M. Ogelsby) Peter Ritner, former feature editor of the Saturday Review, has written a book to stir up Americans in order that they may take an interest in the future and not in the death of Africa. The Macmillan Company sponsored the author's trip to Africa in 1959 and this book is the result of those travels.

The Death of Africa is timely in that Africa has been monopolizing the headlines for the past year with the South African situation and now the Congo. Ritner fore-saw problems in the Congo and sees new ones to come in Portuguese Africa.

According to the author, South Africa has only about 15 to 20 years of time left under Afrikaner domination and he believes that "the wise man may predict that there will be no living men at all in South Africa by the year 2000, but he must agree that if there are men there they will be black.

What a pity that the really important things in this life have so often to be shoved aside for the sake of mere schedule. Because of this unreasonable demand on the part of the majority of human beings I was forced to depart from the Exhibition Forum in Vancouver right in the middle of Bernstein's children's concert last Tuesday.

Stamp Coach Quits

Lions Looking For First Win

CALGARY (CP) disillusioned Otis Douglas quit Friday as head coach of the Calgary Stampeders because "it was no use staying."

Trampled 50-7 by Winnipeg Blue Bombers in Thursday' Western Interprovincial Foot-ball Union contest at Winnipeg, his Stampeders had shown a disastrous lack of desire that no one, including Douglas, could undertand.

All he knew, Douglas told press conference Friday, was that he had reached the end

Canadian Entry Takes First Lap

Canada today was only half an hour away from retaining the Harmsworth Trophy and the world championship in the dangerous and expensive sport of racing the largest power boats on earth.

An Embro, Ont., farmer Friday hurled Canada's entry - Miss Supertest around the 45-mile Harmsworth Course.

And if Bob Hayward can vin over the three United States challengers again to 121/2 States challengers again to 121/2 day, Canada will retain the 201/2 trophy won by Hayward and 2 3 Miss Supertest last year. If a 12 3 U.S. boat wins, there will be a sudden-death final Monday.

Ladder Fishoff Slated Sunday

Fishing pressure is going to be rather intense on Saanich Inlet Sunday, and it might have to be that way if any big salmon are going to be caught.

While fishing prospects appear average, some Inlet regulars feel that conditions are not exactly ideal for the Victoria Saanish Inlet Anglers' Association ladder derby

For much of the derby there will be an outgoing tide. Most of the regulars prefer fishing a flood tide. The derby gets under way at 6 a.m., and the tide will not change until about 11. Fishing will end at 2 p.m.

Catches have not been overly exciting in the past few days although salmon are still coming in regularly.

Anchorage boathouse in Brentwood reports "spotty," catches, with the best action centred in McKenzie Bay. Some cohe to eight pounds have been landed and Peter Dowe caught an 18½ pound spring Thursday.

Hall's at the Goldstream end, advises anglers to fish the Stone Herse Deep Hole areas although E. D. Quinney landed a 25½ pounder Wednesday off the island.

A few coho up to 11 pounds have also come in, although they are by no means plentiful.

Almost 400 anglers are expected to compete in the fishoff, which will climax 10 weeks of qualifying ladders. Main prize will be $500 or a week's vacation at Laguna Beach, Calif.

Weigh in stations will be an Anchorage, Hall's and Holder's Boathouse in Deep Cove.

A week later, enthusiasm should make up for lack of skill when the VSIAA stages its junior derby.

More than 65 prizes will be up for grabs, which means that most anglers who get fish should win prizes. The derby is open to anyone up to and including 16 years of age and there is no charge for entries. However, the first prize of a fecord player and $25 script can only be won by a VSIAA junior member.

Junior memberships cost 50c and may be obtained at

Junior memberships cost 50c and may be obtained at most city sporting goods stores, as can derby tickets. Tickets necessary to obtain refreshments, must be picked up by 5.30 p.m., Aug. 26. The derby, sponsored by Hill's Sporting Goods and city sportsmen Art Mower and Gwilym Evans, offers six fishing prizes with the rest hidden-weight awards.

Fishing will get under way at 7 a.m. and wind up at

All junior anglers must make their own arrangements

The pattern of spotty fishing prevalent in Saanich Inlet has also been noted in other waters around Victoria, but Charlie Guiguet has been enjoying productive outings off

Charlie landed 23 and 24-pounders Friday morning as well as a smaller one. Thursday, he caught a 16-pounder and Wednesday he had an 18-pounder to his credit.

The rest of the fishermen? Mostly blanked, although the regulars manage to land some.

Pedder Bay boasts varied, if scanty, fare. One angler came in with a humpback, a sockeye and a spring and another angler took a limit of coho. There were three another angler took a limit of coho. There springs over 30 pounds landed early in the week

Cowichan Bay continues fair, with indications of a possible good run of coho, and wind has so far this week wiped out fishing in the Qualicum-French Creek areas.

Campbell River, meanwhile, steadily produces bigger tyee as the season grinds into high gear. C. V. Styer of Los Gatos, Calif., caught a 66-pounder, and H. E. Benson of Rialto, Calif., landed a 62½-pound lunker. Coho are beginning to show in Discovery Passage, with several hook-noses from 8-12 pounds being taken on buck-

AS TV 'Ghetto'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sun day is a radio-television ghetto That rather startling description of the Christian Sabbath is used by clergyment themselves to describe hours set aside for religious radio and television programs.

The peak viewing hours come at other times, they say, when commercial programs are on the air.

Churches share what has come to be known throughout the industry as the Sunday ghetto with educational and institutional programs that all have one thing in common—no sponsors.

Western Canada Police Association will engage a full-time statistician and an economist, whose services will be available to members of the association at any time. Decision was made at the association's annual meet-

Decision was made at the association's annual meeting here this week.

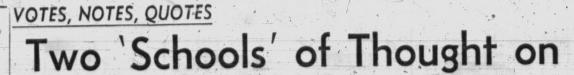

Last winter. Victoria police were charged with retaining the services of such an economist to prepare negotiating material at contract time, although the work was actually done by the membership.

At that time, a spokesman for Greater Victoria municipalities complained of being at a disadvantage by not having access to the same type of "expert" hired by the policemen.

The convention decision will now give the police the expert they didn't have before.

in Vancouver this weekend with 100 candidates, campaign managers and strategists meeting in a two-day huddle over platform and electioneering tactics.

"You might call it a combined school and pep rally," said Victoria candidate George Gregory. But the Social Crediters, of course, have another word for it.

"I would call it an inquest," quipped Mr. Gregory's rival J. Donald Smith.

Esquimalt CCF candidate Geoffrey Mitchell was jubilant today over news that old-time campaigner Harold Winch, Vancouver-East MP, will address an election rally

To Roman Catholics, it is the Mass. In Eastern Orthodox churches, it is the Eucharist. Among Anglicans, it isknown as Holy Communion. Many Protestants prefer to call it the Lord's Supper.

Whatever its title, it is the Christian worship.

It was instituted by Christ Himself at His Last Supper with His disciples, in the upper oom of a house in Jerusalem, few hours before He was arrested, tried and crucified.

The earliest written account of the simple ritual He performed, and the meaning He gave to it, is found in St. Paul's First Epistle to the

At Goldstream Park

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Davies and three year-old daughter, Barbara, choose a spot to pitch their tent at Goldstream Park. They live in Bryan, Tex., where Mr. Davies teaches poultry husbandry at Texas A & M University.

What's the weather like today? This question is uppermost in minds of Bruce McKinnon, 10, and his sister, Margaret, eight. They live at 1172 Greenwood Street, in Esquimalt. Friends took them to Goldstream Park for their first camping adventure.

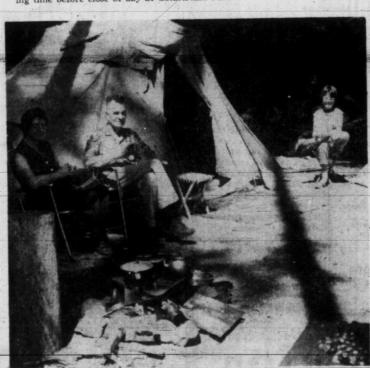

Everyone gets into the act at dish washing time in camp. Here Mr. R. L. Ritchie, 3126 Harriet Road, washes while daughter, Lorna, and son, Kenny, 11, dry. Mother got a break this time. She joined them when chores were

A warming drink and a quiet hour beside the glowing embers of a campfire after nightfall creates the most peaceful time of a camper's day. George and Margaret West, 4031 Saanich Road, spend just such a relaxing time before close of day at Goldstream Park.

Even Daddy's morning shave provides fun when it's performed outdoors! Michael, six, and Jamie, five, watch their lather, J. D. Pritchard, tackling the daily chore, while Mother prepares coffee. Pritchard family lives at 430 Peters Streef, Victoria.

Goldstream Park provides many beautiful campsites for the visitor. Here, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Salmond and Susan, 10, of 3855 Cedar Hill, relax over morning coffee. Susan has a "pup" tent all to herself, much to her great.

A pleasant afternoon stroll beneath Goldstream Park's lovely evergreens, brings the Reg Kirkpatrick family of Richmond, B.C., hand in hand down path rear their camping spot. Children are Ronnie, 12: Wayne, 10: Robin, eight, and Shirley, six. "Terry." the spaniel has fun at camp, too.

Although an American manufacturer is producing imitation floats, the genuine article is increasingly difficult to get owing to the fact that Japanese fishermen are now replacing them with floats made of paper mache. Ones in this Victoria store were gathered by up-Island Indians and took two years to collect.

I was amazed at the price tags—floats range from small ones that sell at 35 cents to huge ones priced at $6. Believe it or not—I had seen one of these large ones selling for $28 in an antique store in the United States.

Owner of store tells me that you can easily distinguish a genuine float by the hand-made crude finish at base. Copies genuine float by the manufacture of the second party all have flat bases while true floats lack this and just have a rough piece of glass, each stamped individually.

If you are tempted to try your hand at making an arrangement of beach wood, floats and shells for your home you should consider getting some of the moon shells that come from Tent Island, near Chemainus. These are priced at matched and often surpassed with a softness of fabric, come from Hardy Bay. No Wasted Moves

Not the least of the methods being used to cut down the noise and bother is careful noise and bother is careful planning to see that there are no wasted moves during con-struction which will prolong it.

Thus, while construction was delayed for revision of the wing's design, hospital officials have been busy working out a moving schedule for various offices and have made sure that all preparatory steps are completed before the heavy construction begins early

More than $55,000 worth of preliminary construction and changes already have been made without noticeable inconvenience and much more will be done before the working drawings for the wing itself are completed this winter and tenders called.

Boiler Installed

Work done so far includes installation of a new boiler to handle the increased load, re-location of interns' quarters, construction of a parking lot for 75 doctors' cars, renovation of the laundry, construction of new maintenance shops and storeroom areas.

Now proceeding is the project to add a 3,000-square foot area to the main kitchen. This and new equipment for the enlarged kitchen will cost $30,-

Among the next steps is removal of oxygen and steam lines in the present tunnel con-necting the hospital and its separate maternity wing. These will be relocated above the ground in temporary housings during construction while a new and deeper tunnel

At the same time, piecemeal demolition of the well-known red brick administration wing will be started.

20 Offices Moved

This will be razed to make way for one of the arms of the new wing. Meanwhile, some 20 offices in the administration building have been found new homes in various parts of the hospital grounds.

The planned relocations of these offices, which will fill every last square foot of spare space the hospital has, took many hours of "juggling" various spaces on the plans

Careful thought went into these moves to find most of them permanent homes so that would not have to be moved again when the new wing is completed.

One of these already has been carried out. The main switchboard, which previously was to be moved into tempor ary quarters and then into its location after the wing was finished, has been installed now beside the existing emergency ward where it will

Wooden Corridor

A temporary wooden cor-ridor also will have to be built from the kitchen to the mater nity wing and the northwest end of the hospital plant.

During excavation for the wing itself, dynamite will be used in small well-covered "shots" to cause the least dis-turbance and jack hammers will be used only at least critical times and after patients have been warned.

A tremendous amount of planning is needed to "tie-in" the floors, wiring and piping of the new wing to the old While construction is on, the

That's a familiar and neces sary sign.

So how do you blast and jack-hammer a rock excavation and build a reinforced concrete wing, five stories tall onto a hospital without disturbing the patients?

That's one of the big headaches for planners of the new Royal Jubilee Hospital wing. And they have to solve the sary sign.

SPACE DOGS RETURN? U.S. CATCHES CAPSULE

The world's two space-age rivals, the U.S. and Russia, each have made dramatic progress in their race to get a man into orbit.

In Moscow, Soviet scientists reported that two dogs and other animals were brought down safely to earth after a trip in the cabin of a five-ton space-ship launched into orbit Friday.

Over the Pacific Ocean near Hawaii, a C-119 Flying Boxcar plucked a space capsule in mid-air that had been ejected from an orbiting satellite over Alaska. It was the first ever such re-

LONDON (Reuters)-Moscow Radio tonight announced that Russia's latest satellite, containing two dogs and other animals, has been brought safely back to earth.

The radio said the two dogs were in good condi-tion and the spaceship had landed "in a pre-set area"
The landing marked the first time in history that man has been able to send living beings into orbit and return them safely to earth. The Russians made a similar attempt earlier with the dog Laika, but the animal perished and the capsule never was re-The Soviet Union launched
